The Purdys Chocolatier Story

Purdys Chocolatier's story began in Vancouver in 1907, when founder Richard Carmon Purdy started selling his homemade chocolates. From the beginning, his focus was simple: use quality ingredients, craft chocolate with care, and people will taste the difference.

Since 1963, Purdys Chocolatier has been proudly owned by the Flavelle family, now with the third generation involved in the business. Their long-term, family approach has helped shape Purdys Chocolatier into Canada's chocolatier known for quality, connection, and joy.

We thoughtfully source premium ingredients, prioritizing natural ingredients and sustainable cocoa. We never compromise quality.

Truly Canadian and truly delicious, Purdys Chocolatier is a family-owned company proudly devoted to chocolate.

Purdys Group Savings is the best!

"We have used Purdys for our soccer team's Group Savings for many years. The process is very easy and so organized, and the support is amazing. Highly recommend for any Group Savings."

— Maria

Yummy!

"It was a great Group Savings for Christmas. Great help from the company if you had questions. I will do it for my two groups again at Christmas."

— Shelley

We'd have a mutiny!

"We greatly appreciate the value we get from participating in Purdys group orders—I swear we'd have a mutiny here if we didn't offer the campaigns; that's how much we collectively love Purdys chocolates! Thank you for all you do to provide these campaigns to us."

— Sheri
